(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., July 17.—The league leaders and the second position club fought each other to a standstill on Leavenworth Field this afternoon, the Tercentenials taking the first game of a double-header 2 to 0, and the Shoemakers taking the second game by exactly the same score. It was fast baseball, too, from beginning to end. Batters could not do much with the pitchers, and the fielding for the most part was sharp, although both of Lynchburg's runs in the second game were due to errors. The playing altogether eclipsed any playing seen in Norfolk this season, almost every man on both teams figuring in some lightning play. Pitcher Leonard was the hero of the day. He pitched both games for Norfolk, and gave up but eight hits during the seventeen innings of play. He won his first game handily, and the loss of the second by his team, or rather the winning of it by Lynchburg, was not his fault. He pitched magnificently throughout both games. But there is no discounting the ability of Lynchburg's pitchers. Mighty little hitting was done off of them, Stewart, in the second game, being especially effective. Heavy hitters on both teams frequently looked like second-raters facing the great pitchers. It rained heavily at the end of the eighth inning of the second game, and drowned out Norfolk's last lingering hope of winning. The score:

First game: NORFOLK.
